

TECHNICIAN/NURSE MEMBERSHIP INFORMATION

Are you interested in becoming a member of ARAV?

An ARAV Veterinary Technician/Nurse membership will give you the opportunity to closely collaborate with others who possess the same passion in the care, treatment and conservation of exotic animals. Take the opportunity to further enhance your education and network with other professionals in your field from all over the world.

VETERINARY TECHNICIAN/NURSE MEMBERSHIP

An Individual Technician/Nurse is any person working as a veterinary technician, veterinary nurse or veterinary assistant interested in the field of reptilian and amphibian medicine and surgery. Not yet a technician/nurse? You can join as a Veterinary Technician/Nurse Student. A student member is any person enrolled fulltime in a college setting, including interns, residents, graduate students and veterinary technician/nurse students who are interested in reptilian and amphibian medicine and surgery.

Membership benefits:

- Reduced conference registration fees to the ARAV's annual conference and other conferences, including iCARE in Europe.
- Access to the ARAV.org member's resources, including the ARAV proceedings library, through your personal log-in code.
- Access to the ARAV Members-only Facebook group, where you can follow cases, review diagnostics and connect with mentors in reptile and amphibian medicine.
- Access to the ARAV Externship/Speaker Database

You will also have access to these cutting-edge publications:

- Journal of Herpetological Medicine and Surgery
- Herp Blerp - the monthly eNewsletter of ARAV
- Annual Conference Proceedings - A collection of notes from speakers and their topics at the annual conference
- Companion Care Client Brochures - A series of in-depth reviews of various exotic species
