

Seeking an associate veterinarian:

Are you looking for more than just another veterinary job? Looking to grow with an independently owned clinic? Looking to flex your medical skills? We have the practice for you!

Our clinic is 10 years old and growing fast, having recently moved into a brand new facility to accommodate our expanding staff and clientele. We are located in Dartmouth, Nova Scotia, sister city to Halifax. Our municipality has been experiencing steady population and economic growth, with many "big city" amenities paired with Maritime Canada hospitality. In Nova Scotia, you are never far from the beauty of the Atlantic Ocean, our many protected natural areas with hiking trails and other outdoor activities, and a diverse cultural community.

Russell Lake Animal Hospital has all the bells and whistles of a full-service facility (in-house laboratory, Idexx reference lab support, telemedicine, surgical suite, dental suite, a DR radiology suite [soon to switch to CR], in-house pharmacy, and behavioural services) and a fantastic team of support staff (including dedicated surgery, exotic animal, and lab technicians). We are open 7 days a week but we are supported by our local 24/7 emergency hospital, so our staff are NOT expected to be on-call for overnight or holiday availability.

Our team strongly believes in ongoing professional and personal development. We offer a competitive salary (plus production), an extensive benefits package, CE allowance, and LSRH certification. In addition, we can provide you with the opportunity to become more involved in many aspects of the hospital as well as grow and advance in your areas of interest. Our patient base is predominantly canine and feline, and we are experiencing significant growth in our companion exotic animal services due to an increased demand for high-quality medicine for these unique animals.

As our ideal candidate, you have:

- A Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree valid for practice in Canada
- License for practice in Nova Scotia or the ability to become licensed
- Strong communication skills, an interest in diagnostics, internal medicine, and surgery
- A desire for compassionate care to foster long-term relationships with our clients and patients
- Experience with exotic companion animals is an asset

Full-time or part-time hours are available. We look forward to welcoming you to our team! Find more information about our practice at <https://russelllakevet.com/> Interested candidates can forward their resume with a cover letter to resumes@russelllakevet.com
