

HIRING ZOOLOGICAL MEDICINE FACULTY

Tenure or Clinical-track Assist, Assoc, or Full-Professor

Oklahoma State University College of Veterinary Medicine is seeking a Zoological Medicine Faculty!

The OSU-CVM Department of Veterinary Clinical Sciences is seeking applicants for a tenure or clinical track faculty position in Zoological Medicine. Appointment will be at the level of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor. Salary and rank will be commensurate with experience and qualifications. A DVM degree or equivalent is required. Completion of clinical residency training, or board certification (or eligible) by a Zoological Medicine related board certification (e.g., American College of Zoological Medicine and/or European College of Veterinary Medicine) is required. Eligibility for faculty licensure in the state of Oklahoma is also required. Duties will include clinical service and teaching, including oversight of the Veterinary Teaching Hospital Zoological Medicine service, training of house officers, and didactic lectures and laboratory instruction of veterinary students.

Development of innovative teaching programs and interest in primary investigator or collaborative research/scholarship will be favorably looked upon and in proportion with the type of appointment and extent of clinical service. Collaboration with established research faculty within the College and University is encouraged. The Zoological Medicine service includes 2 technicians and 2 house officers. The service has a very well-equipped ward with an approximately 2,000 sq ft area. The service primarily sees client owned exotic animals and native wildlife.

Nestled in the heart of Stillwater, Oklahoma, one of the friendliest college towns in America, and with quick access to both Oklahoma City and Tulsa, OSU is the place to be.

We are committed to providing the highest standard of veterinary care and advancing the teaching mission of our university.
